Lord,
Let Your Mind
Be in me.
Make me a servant,
A supernatural one,
In human form;
Looking human,
Representing my Saviour.
Servant to all
As I serve You.

Sometimes, Lord,
My human nature rebels
Selfish by matter and flesh
To the very nuclei
Of my cells.
I resist
Until I remember
You gave all Heaven up
To serve us
You walked the meanest streets
Of Earth
To serve us
You died as cruel a death
As humiliating a death
As we can imagine
Because we needed You
Your embodiment of love
Beats my flesh down
My rebellion slinks away
Let Your Mind be in me, Lord,
That I may serve.
